

BASIX

Better homes for people | Better for the environment

If you're building a new home, you need a BASIX Certificate

From 1 July 2004

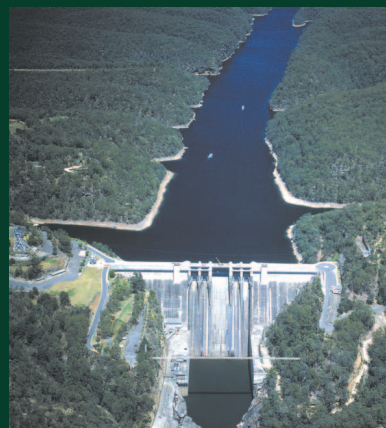

you need to include a BASIX Certificate when you lodge your proposal to build a new home.*

Your BASIX Certificate shows what you will do to make sure your new home uses less water and energy.

To find out about the BASIX Certificate, visit our website, ask your local council or speak to your building professional.

* This will not apply if you entered into a building contract before 1 July 2004.

Building Sustainability Index
www.basix.nsw.gov.au

Department of Infrastructure, Planning and Natural Resources